

FINANCIAL AND ECONOMIC RELATIONS OF WORLD NEXT
PEACE CONFERENCE PROBLEM

Three Different Organizations Named to Deal With the Subject.

FRENCH SHY AT LEAGUE

Paris Praise in Press is Interpreted as Condemning the Constitution of the Society of Nations; General Amnesty for Italy Promised by King

By Associated Press.
PARIS, Feb. 15.—With the subject of the league of nations now out of the way for some time to come, the biggest problem before the peace conference at present is believed to be the readjustment of the world's financial and economic relations.
Three different organizations have been created to deal with the subject. Some of their constitutions are ready for consideration as soon as the conference is willing to receive the reports, although the last body created in this connection dates back only to February 8. This body is the supreme economic council and its work is of the greatest immediate importance.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The constitution of the society of nations arouses little enthusiasm in the French press.
At best it is damned by faint praise.
The figure, the organ of the ruling class, says:
"The commission, on the initiative of its illustrious chairman, President Wilson, wisely decided not to ravish tomorrow from the eternal and confined itself to making safe the present. The mystic society of nations has thus become a league of the five great powers which beat Germany and which, having conquered, mean to consolidate both victory and peace.
A close alliance will result between the United States, England, France, Italy and Japan."

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Military and naval authorities at the port of de-barcation in Hoboken are preparing for the arrival here of the steamship George Washington, carrying President Wilson and his official party consisting of 319 members, together with several thousand troops.

ROME, Feb. 15.—On the occasion of the proclamation of the constitution of the society of nations King Victor Emmanuel will sign a liberal decree of military and political amnesty, it is announced here.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Italian Found Dying in Porch of Insurance Man; 10 Shots Heard.

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—George Domnick, 23, of Salem, Ohio, died in a hospital here early today following his discovery, suffering from three bullet wounds, on the front porch of the home of Royal S. Goldsberry, wealthy insurance man, at Edgewood, near here.

Hearing rumors about 10:30 last night Mr. Goldsberry investigated and found Domnick's unconscious form.
A short while before, neighbors told the police, 10 shots in quick succession were heard. County detectives are working on the case.

Domnick died before regaining consciousness. Detectives said they believed that he was attacked by two or more assailants and fought a duel with them. Finding that he could not successfully fight them, detectives believe he ran and was shot in the back.
A revolver, thought to have been Domnick's, was found in the street 500 feet from the Goldsberry home.

GIRDER RIPS CARS

Twelve Persons Hurt in Accident on P. R. R. at Oakdale.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Twelve persons were injured, several seriously, when a steel girder protruding from a flat bed of a westbound freight

Pennsylvania railroad at Oakdale.
The injured, some of whom were women, were brought to Pittsburgh hospitals.

ence.

COL. BARNHART'S
77TH ANNIVERSARY
FESTAL OCCASION

Children of Sunnyside Veterans Entertain at Elaborate Banquet in Odd Fellows' Temple.

Colonel James J. Barnhart of Sunnyside is 77 years old today and in honor of the occasion his Civil War comrades and a few other friends assembled in Odd Fellows' Temple yesterday afternoon at the close of the regular meeting of the William P.
Kurtz Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic, to celebrate the happy event. Owing to the illness of Mrs.
Barnhart, the party could not be held at the Barnhart home where the celebrations heretofore were always held.
About 45 guests, including children, grandchildren and grandchildren of Colonel Barnhart, were present and spent one of the most enjoyable afternoons of their lives. After receiving congratulations from his friends the honored guest made a splendid talk. Rev.
J. S. Showers, P. J. Tormay, Rev. G.
W. Buckner, John Wilder and George Patterson also spoke. A letter of congratulation written to Colonel Barnhart by his comrade, G. O. Rowe, of Lancaster, was read by Captain E.
Dunn and also a poem read with birthday greetings from G. H. Whitley, who is visiting in Birmingham, Ala.
Several other cards of congratulations were received.

Following the addresses the guests were invited into another room of the temple where an elaborate banquet was served by the children of Mr.
Barnhart. The menu included chicken and an abundance of many other good things.

In the center of the table was a large birthday cake with 77 small American flags denoting the age of the honored guest. The guest book and Mrs.
Barnhart are noted for their hospitality and the only regret yesterday was that Mrs. Barnhart was unable to be present for the occasion.

Colonel Barnhart was born in Dunbar township, February 15, 1842 and although he is growing old in years, he is full of life and vigor. He is a member of Company K, Seventh Pennsylvania Cavalry and is prominent in the activities of the William P. Kurtz Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic. He is the father of 13 children, all of whom are living, nine being present at the celebration yesterday. He has 34 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Colonel Barnhart has two sons in the service, one wounded in France and the other in a training camp.

The veterans and their guests were photographed several times by Ralph ily in attendance were: Mrs. J. E.

Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. John of Odd Fellows' Temple, association, Rev. G. W. Buckner, George Patterson, street fair association to raise money towards a fund to be used in holding a monster celebration when the fight-turn home were taken at a meeting last night. A military minstrel show and a musical performance, together with a series of dances will be staged soon, with other features coming later.

It is the purpose of the street fair association to raise not less than $5,000 towards the fund and as much more as possible. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the office of Dr. C. S.
Campbell when further plans to go ahead with the projects on hand will be discussed.

arrangements can be made the musical play will be staged at the Colonial

Connellsville, 3,740; Scottdale, 3,247.

"TMTTHRUENZA" IS NEW DISEASE FOUND IN FAYETTE COUNTY

Diagnosis is Made by Walter P.
Schick, Red Cross Secretary;
Women Chief Sufferers.

There is a new disease that shows signs of breaking out among some Red Cross branches and auxiliaries of the Fayette County chapter. It is known as "Tmtthruenza." This is an epidemic the Red Cross is called upon to combat within its own ranks, according to Secretary Walter P. Schick.
The initial symptom is a sense of lassitude—a feeling of "What's the use? It's all over. Why should I work?"

"Cold feet" is a marked symptom.

Another indication of the presence of the germ is forgetfulness—that the boys are still over there.
The victim, as a rule, cannot concentrate the mind on the making of hospital and refugee garments.
The sight becomes impaired—can't see to sew.
The ears become affected—can't hear the appeals of hundreds of thousands of refugees who must be clothed, fed and housed.

Heart doesn't beat as it used to, and in advanced stage that organ apparently turns to stone.
Although some chapters have been very badly stricken by this new epidemic, the Fayette County chapter has been practically free of it, but within the last couple of weeks it has shown signs of breaking out on a rather large scale. It is especially unfortunate that this time in view of the fact that only yesterday, the Fayette County chapter received a new allotment order of 200 women's blouses, 100 children's aprons, 100 house gowns and 100 phan-tores. This allotment, in addition to the order of 200 convalescent suits now being made for our naval and military hospitals, means that every branch and auxiliary must remain loyal and active if we are to produce these garments on time, or admit to our division headquarters that we have failed in this final call, after having established a record for the Fayette County chapter that is second to none.

A good vaccine recommended to those afflicted with this new disease consists of equal parts of cure of "I-won't-quit" and Red Cross spirit, and a dash of patriotism and a peck of pep is very effective.

NEW STORAGE RATES

Effective in Freight Houses of U. S.
Railroad Administration.

New storage rates, effective in all freight stations, today have been announced by the Railroad Administration. The storage rates show a big increase over the former charges.
A storage charge of two cents per 100 pounds will be made for each of the first five days the goods are left in the freight warehouse. After the sixth day and thereafter as long as the goods are not removed a charge of three cents per 100 pounds will be assessed. The previous rate was one-half a cent per 100 pounds as long as the commodity was held at the freight station.

The minimum charge for goods kept the first five days is now 25 cents compared with 15 cents formerly.
There are, however, exceptions for persons living 10 miles from the city and not more than 20 miles will be kept five days without storage charges.
Goods for persons living 20 miles, but not more than 30 miles will be kept 10 days and for persons living 30 miles from the city, goods will be kept 15 days without storage.

DRUG STORE ENTERED

Entrance to Laughery Establishment Gained Through Rear Window.

The store of the Laughery Drug company, was entered last night, but nothing was missing this morning.
The supposition is that a "dope fiend" looking for cocaine had been the burglar.

Entrance to the store was gained at the rear, a piece of glass being broken from the window, which was then unlocked. A search of the shelves on which the drugs are kept was made but the cocaine was overlooked.
Checks which had been endorsed were taken from a drawer in the search but were left behind. Money in the cash register was also untouched.
The police have a clue as to who committed the robbery.

LET IN SOLDIERS' PAY

Is Favored by the House of Representatives at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Pay of enlisted men in the army would be reduced to $15 a month after July 1, as the result of the elimination in the House yesterday, on a point of order, of the provision in the annual army appropriation bill constituting the present salary of $30 a month.

Ellex Divorce Suit.

filed an action in divorce in the Uniontown court against his wife, Elise
S. Adams, charging her with desertion.
The couple were married in Greensburg on June 12, 1912, and have lived in Juniata and Brownsburg.

day by Coroner James Harkins of Westmoreland county into the death of the physician near his home.

LOAFING ON STREETS AFTER MIDNIGHT TO BE PROHIBITED;
POLICE CRUSADE IS ORDERED*G. A. R. VETERANS
ARE FOR A HOME CELEBRATION

Sentiment Strongly Expressed at Meeting of Kurtz Post; Mrs.
Roosevelt Needs Letter.

At the regular meeting of the William P. Kurtz Post, No. 304, G. A. R., yesterday afternoon in Odd Fellows' Temple a resolution, heartily endorsing a celebration in Connellsville for the home-coming soldiers was drawn up and approved of by the 21 Civil War veterans in attendance. The members are bitterly opposed to Connellsville joining with Uniontown for that purpose. Connellsville having the only National Guard unit and the only armory in Fayette county the veterans feel that Connellsville is the place to hold the celebration. The body of men heartily approved the action taken yesterday by prominent business men of the city and are ready to lend their cooperation wherever it is possible in the celebration.

Following the death of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt the post drew up resolutions of respect and forwarded them to Mrs. Roosevelt and family. An acknowledgment card of appreciation received from Mrs. Roosevelt and family was read yesterday before the post. It read as follows: "Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and family wish to express their appreciation of your kind sympathy."

The following members of the post were reported ill: Joseph Marshall, Broad Ford; Stewart Durbin, South
Connellsville; Lindsey Newcomer, Connellsville; H. H. Yarnall, Wheeler; Theodore Bixler, Broad Ford; and J. Z. Pritchard, Connellsville. Commander W. P. Clark presided. The meeting was the largest and most interesting held by the veterans for some time.

NEGRO BASKETBALL FANS TOSSED INTO A SULPHUR CREEK

Party from Jeannette Meets Disaster
When Driver Misses Road at Iron Bridge.

Returning last night to Jeannette from a colored basketball game at the Slavish hall on the West Side, six colored fans, four men and two women, were tossed into the sulphur creek at Iron Bridge when the driver, John Fairfax, of Jeannette, missed the road at the slight curve near the trolley station. The car buried itself in the stream. How the occupants escaped is considered remarkable but they all got out not much worse for the experience except one who was cut by glass of the windshield.

Word was telephoned to Connellville to R. D. Fink, colored transfer man, who motored to the scene and took the members of the party to Scottdale where they spent the night.
Among the persons in the car was

The only part of the car visible today was the rear right wheel.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Back-ache or Have Bladder Trouble.

Most uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's uricous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then not feel and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

At the Theatres.

Miss Irene Modern and a group of dancers with the big musical comedy hit "The Million Dollar Doll" Feb. 19.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR DOLL"

"The Million Dollar Doll" which will be the offering at the Scottdale theatre next Wednesday has proved one of the greatest successes of the season's musical offerings. The book, lyrics and music, were written by Louis Wesley of New York City, who is the successful writer for such well known artists as Rock & Fulton, Lulu Glaser, Marion Bent, Pat Rooney and many others. The entire work is original and far above the general run of musical comedies. Mr. Wesley considers this his best work. The production was staged by Mr. Harry D. Orr, who is well known to the theatre going public. He has given this attraction one of the most elaborate productions ever sent on tour. The costumes, stage settings and light effects are beautiful and enchanting. The company is one of the largest and best on the road this season and is well worthy the large patronage accorded it since the opening date.

THE PARAMOUNT

"LOCK AND PLUCK"—A comedy picture in which George Walsh is seen in a role that differs from any in which he has ever appeared is today's attraction. He is a crook, but not really a criminal at heart. He meets a charming girl, whose influence changes him. The thefts he commits after this are to steal into the girl's home to get her photographs, to take another man's engagement ring from her finger and to lift the wallet of a mean, despicable German. The film abounds in thrilling stunts performed only as Walsh can do them. Through a series of wild experiences he eventually lands a nest of German spies and puts them out of commission. He shows what an "honorable crook" he is. "Lock and Pluck" is a work of perfect plotting, patriotism and persistence, and should not be missed by any one who wants to see a clean, cut comedy combined with stunts that make the spectator sit up and breathe hard. A selected company is also being shown. Monday Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne will be seen in an interesting picture.

THE SOISSON.

"THE KINGDOM OF YOUTH"—A five-part Goldwyn feature in which Marge Kennedy is seen in a pleasing role, is being shown today. The picture tells the story of a truly loving couple, torn with suspicion by jealousy of a scheming middle-aged woman, who seeks to win the love of a man and who later is exposed in all her falsity by the beautiful young woman she has tried to separate from her husband. The widow arranges that Ruth Betts, the young bride, shall be seen, constantly in company with Count Henri Dural, whom she uses to prove to Ruth's husband that his bride is unfaithful to him. Ruth suspects that the widow's "motherly" affection for her husband is too precisely aimed and accuses her of trying to win his love. The interloper deceives her and Ruth plans to have her husband see the widow undressed in all her false frills. Ruth starts a fire with some greasy waste in a drip pan and places it at the door of the widow's boudoir. The widow rushes into the street in night attire and Ruth triumphs as her husband sees her rival as she really is. Miss Kennedy is supported by Tom Moore and other screen stars of prominence.

"PLAYTHINGS"

Mother and fathers of daughters will find themselves arraigned before the bar of truth at the Scottdale theatre on Monday, February 17, when C. S. Primrose produces what has been called the most powerful and sensational drama of the generation—Sidney Toler's "Playthings." They will be asked without mincing of words whether it is not they who are responsible for most of the ruined innocence of the world—responsible because through a policy of mistaken modesty and a disinclination to face the truths of life they have allowed their daughters to grow up and to go forth into life unarmed by that knowledge which would have proved a buckler against the wiles of unprincipled men. "Playthings" takes its title from the heartbroken cry of a disillusioned girl, who realizes too late what she has sacrificed to a man whose protestations of love have been but the old, old lie: "Women are the playthings of men." Stronger than many of her sisters, the girl in this case resolves to build up her life anew only, when she has retained something of happiness, or the promise of it, to be confronted by the past which she had fondly hoped was dead. It is then that another great question that has been the subject for argument the world over is set forth by the author in strong and moving scenes. Is it a woman's duty to the man who really loves her, to blast his faith in her purity by a confession of the false step of other days? This is not a moving picture.

1919 Spring Announcement 1919

5 and 10c Wall Paper Co.

103 West Apple Street

Almost every one, it seems is going to decorate this Spring, all the people who put it off till after the war, people who have boys coming home from France, and people who have property to rent.

Accordingly, I would like very much to find out if you are planning to re-decorate and whether I may have the pleasure of figuring on your work, so that if I am fortunate enough to secure your order I can arrange my time so as to do your work when you want it done. I can best meet your convenience and wishes, providing of course, that I am favored with your order by planning the work as far in advance as possible.

I have my new wall paper samples in now, and they are unusually attractive. The new 1919 living-room and bed-room papers are particularly beautiful. My work as you undoubtedly know, is absolutely first-class. I give careful attention to matching and shading the papers and avoid all unnecessary mess and disorder in the house, and my prices are absolutely the lowest possible, not only for materials but also for doing the work.

May I call and show you the new papers at your convenience.

Our work is guaranteed and neatly done.

Court Declines to Prevent Deportation of Anarchists.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A writ of habeas corpus, sworn out in an attempt to prevent deportation of 52 aliens brought here from western cities, was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Knox.

The court held that the petition for the writ failed to show any violation of the rights of the deportees. The 52 aliens are alleged anarchists or members of the I. W. W.

Judge Knox announced the dismissal was without prejudice. If inspection of the deportation records revealed indications of injustice to any of the prisoners, he said, the writ as relating to them, might be reviewed.

THESE DURABLE SOLES WORN BY MILLIONS

"After giving Neolin Soles a thorough trial, I would not go back to the soles I used to wear even though the cost were less. I receive twice the service from shoes with Neolin Soles." writes G. P. Jones, of Omaha. More than 10,000,000 pairs of Neolin Soles have been put on American shoes. People were quick to realize the advantages of this scientifically-made sole—its long wear, its comfort, water-proofness—and its final economy. Good shoe stores everywhere sell Neolin-soled shoes in many styles for men, women, and children. And any repairman will re-sole your worn shoes with Neolin Soles—made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.
No gripping in the "knots" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.
If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 50c per box. All druggists.

COKE MARKET INACTIVE, THERE BEING PRACTICALLY NO DEMAND

Majority of Consumers Are Supplied on Contracts; Others Have Bought.

WIDE QUOTATION RANGE

On Spot, Chiefly Demurrage, Coke, But the Leading Producers Hold Firm at $5.09 For Furnace and $5.00 For Standard Brands of Foundry.

Special to The Weekly Courier. PITTSBURGH, Feb. 10.—The coke market has become extremely inactive. Offerings of odd lots have decreased, as production has been curtailed, while on the other hand there is practically no demand. The great majority of consumers are provided with coke by contract, and the few that are not have bought for the month of February, so that they will not be in the market again until late this month.

Nearly all the contracts have now been adjusted; as a result of the discontinuance of the government price limit. As previously reported, most of the contracts that called for negotiation as to price in case the government control should have been adjusted for the month of February on a basis of $5.50. Some have been adjusted at lower figures, but $5.50 seems to have been the more common price. Although the month is not half over it is generally admitted that this is too high a price to be representative of the market as a whole, $5.00 being the present idea, but consumers under such contracts may receive an adjustment next month that will equalize.

Practically all the fixed-price contracts, those that called for "last government price" have been the subject of negotiations, despite the fact that the contracts were not written with any provision for adjustment. Operators found that the contracts could not be carried out smoothly; at the $5.00 price and as a rule therefore they have made adjustments. Instead of making adjustments merely for a month at a time there has been an effort made to fix a revised price that would hold unless conditions greatly alter, and in most cases this price is understood to have been in the neighborhood of $5.00.

In the case of one small contract that called for a negotiated price upon the disappearance of the government price the parties were unable to agree at all upon prices and the operator accordingly cancelled the contract, so that a new buyer of prompt coke was brought into the market.

A wide range of prices, could be quoted as representing the spot or prompt furnace coke market. There have been small lots of coke, chiefly demurrage coke, offered at prices down to $4.50 if not less, some of the coke doubtless being good white some of it is not. On the small lot basis the market might possibly be quoted at $4.50. On the other hand the majority of leading producers are holding coke at a not less than $5.00 and would not sell at this time at a lower price. If a sizable inquiry came into the market the very operators who have been offering coke at less than $5.00 would probably advance their views sharply and would want much more for a large tonnage, say enough to operate a furnace, than they now ask for small lots. The wholesale market would be higher than the retail market. The furnace would probably pay the higher price rather than attempt to run on a collection of various brands of coke, cheap as to price but rather expensive when used in such variety in the furnace. On the basis of round lots, or regular furnace supplies, the market is quotable at about $5.00.

Off grades of foundry coke have sold down to $5.00 or less, but the regular producers of really standard foundry coke are holding at $5.00 and have been making some sales at this figure. The market accordingly is quotable as follows:

Prompt furnace.....$5.00
Prompt foundry.....$5.00
The Pittsburgh district coal market is very quiet. Operators have given up their idea of asking $2.50 for mine run, 15 cents above the old government price, and the usual asking price for good grades is the old government price of $2.35. Some sales of high grade gas coal and also of by-product coal are understood to have been made at this price, also a contract for 3,000 tons of gas coal a month for the year beginning April 1. Generally speaking, however, there is a little tendency to shade prices on good grades of coal, while there are distinctly cut price on less desirable grades.

The pig iron market is decidedly inactive. The largest transaction reported in the week is 250 tons of Bessemer for second quarter at the recognized price, $32.20, Valley. The balance of probability is that later on the buyer could have a better bid but he was in such position that he did not care to take chances. Upon the appearance of an attractive order there might be shading, but as conditions are firmness are holding strictly to the recognized prices, which have obtained since the first of the year, as follows:

Bessemer.....$32.20
Basic.....$32.00
No. 2 foundry.....$31.00

The earliest arrivals in suits and coat-dresses are, like the first robins, appearing in scattered groups and glimpses, but are harbingers of charming fashions to follow. They are rather tentative as to line and, although, their motto apparently being "When in doubt choose straight lines." Therefore there are more straight-line models than anything else. Designers may have been waiting for a last word from Paris before launching their earliest creations; if so that last word was the long-waisted blouse; a Parisian fancy that results in an obliteration of curves. Along with it come lengthened tunics, straight around the bottom, and a variety of interesting sleeves having generous and extraordinary cuffs, and mostly cut in the fashion shown in the sleeve of the suit illustrated above.

The straight-line suit is a safe choice because women do not confine themselves to one or two styles or to one or two silhouettes any more. The straight-line dress is always smart. One can wear it with confidence and assurance, as is the case with Russian blouse models. There is not a chance that all the new fashions will keep to the straight and narrow ways of these first arrivals, but, however, deviations, their ways, they will not be more attractive

There is a chic slenderness which the straight-line insures to the figure of average plumpness. The suit pictured might be of jersey cloth or of some member of the tri-coloite family of new weaves, or of any of the lighter weights and supple wood fabrics that insure graceful pliancy.

For decoration the coat turns to two bands of silk and short stitch embroidery in jing of the same hue as the cloth it adorns. One of these bands is narrower than the other and two of the narrow bands call attention to the up-to-dateness of the sleeves. The skirt is without decoration and as innocent of curves as a section of a smoke-stack. No sort of ornamentation is better liked on suits and dresses than embroidery of the sort shown in this suit. It is made up merely of irregular lines and does not even hint at portraying anything in nature. Imagination may translate it into something that pleases the eye, but however formless, it pleases the eye so emphatically that it is used on gorgeous evening gowns, elegant afternoon frocks, and on unpretentious suits as well.

D. T. H. S. HIGH TEAM IS ANNIHILATED BY C. H. S. BASKETEERS

When Final Whistle Blows Connellsville High Immense Lead; Score, 45-9.

Connellsville high school chalked up another basketball victory last night when the Dunbar township high school was annihilated, 45-9. The game was a clinic for the locals from beginning to end, but the playing was not up to the standard.

The contest started with all the substitutes in the lineup. One by one these were drawn out until finally Dunbar township faced Connellsville's last varsity five. The margin in the score increased according to the number of regulars who went into the contest.

Dunbar township's standard of playing has dropped away down. The team is no longer made up of the clever boys who used to uphold the athletic honors of D. T. H. S. Some poor sportsmanship was displayed several times, mainly on the part of Rensel and Pritchard. Their efforts got them nowhere, however, as Connellsville refused to argue but kept on scoring.

Pritchard wanted to make a football match of the game at the beginning and when his rough tactics did not succeed he argued the referee's decisions. He finally left the game voluntarily in the last quarter. The game as a whole went better after he had left it.

Last night's game brought another substitute in to the limelight. Bufano, playing forward, made himself conspicuous by shooting 10 out of 13 foul goals. He also scored a field goal.

Tonight Connellsville goes to Wilkesburg to play that team. The game will count in the standing of the W. T. A. league.

The lineup:
D. T. H. S.—9
Bufano.....F.....Hensel
Dunbar.....C.....Cotton
Buttermore.....G.....Pritchard
Joe McConnell.....G.....Stoner
Meneles.....G.....Hughes
Substitutions—Struble for Dunbar, James McConnell for Buttermore, Buttermore for Meneles, Lyon for Bufano, Moore for Joe McConnell, Moser for Pritchard.

Field goals—James McConnell 5, Struble 4, Lyon 2, Bufano, Dunbar, Buttermore, Hensel, Cotton.
Point goals—Bufano 10 out of 13, Struble 7 out of 12, Cotton 2 out of 2, Pritchard 3 out of 6.

Referee—Jones.

Coal Baker

Combination Gas and Coal.

The Majestic is made in many different styles, but the GREATEST OF THEM ALL is the "THREE-IN-ONE COMBINATION RANGE," for coal, wood, or gas; three stoves in one, and nothing to change when switching from gas to coal. Just imagine how nice it would be on a COLD WINTER'S MORNING, to light the gas and have breakfast, while the coal fire is getting started. Then again, the gas might give out—PRESTO—just build a coal fire. This Range has a separate gas baker, gas broiler and coal baker, each one independent of the other.

Come and see one in operation on our floor. THEY ARE GREAT.

Remember, we will serve HOT COFFEE AND MAJESTIC BISCUITS ALL THE WEEK, AND WE WANT YOU TO COME EARLY AND OFTEN. THEY ARE FREE AS WATER.

STOP--THINK--FIGURE

Your wife cooks a thousand meals a year. Your range is used more than all your other furniture combined. Then why not buy the best? The Majestic.

THE GREAT MAJESTIC, THE RANGE WITH A REPUTATION WON.

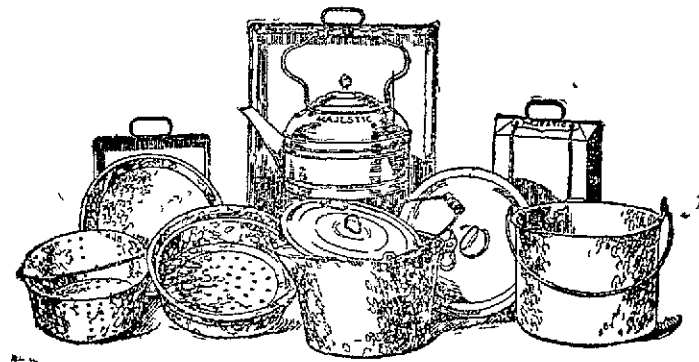

GOLD MEDAL. The highest award at the Panama Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco St. Louis, Portland, Seattle, Jamestown, Knoxville, and Omaha.

For nearly a quarter of a century, ever since Majestic Ranges have been on the market, it has swept from all competitors the highest prizes offered at World's Fairs, and similar Expositions. There has not been a single break or exception. This betokens an article of extraordinary and unquestionable merit. It is admitted to mean much when such a prize is won even once but when the winning is repeated year after year, and when the judges are chosen from the most prominent men in their lines, from the four quarters of the globe, we are justified in our contention that we make the best range on Earth.

AND REMEMBER

The price of a Majestic Range this week will not be increased, and there will hardly be a great reduction for years to come, if ever, but there may be an increase soon.

Your Opportunity is Here

At our store—during our MAJESTIC BARGAIN WEEK. It's your chance to get acquainted with real facts about Ranges. We assure you it will be worth your while to investigate. See the inside of this Range.

SEE NO DIFFERENCE IN ENGLISH RULES

Handicaps Under Which Americans Fought in London.

Yankess Given to Understand They Would Be Disqualified If They Did Not Fight British Way—Harry Grab an Exception.

Little Kane, who went to London as manager of the service boxers representing America in the inter-allied service boxing tournament, has an entirely different story to tell from those sent to this country by English correspondents regarding the handicaps under which the American boxers performed against those of England, Canada, Australia, and South Africa.

"There was very little difference between the American rules governing the bouts and the decisions and the English regulations. The thing is, the Americans were filled up with just plain 'bull' before the bouts. They were told that the English rules were entirely different from the American ones," said Kane.

"They were told that the judges would disqualify them if they did not fight the British way. The consequence was that they entered the ring under the impression that they must forsake all their own style of fighting."

"The only boy that tried to work in his old way was Harry Grab and he knocked out his opponent."

When asked about the P. I. Moore-Jimmie Wilde bout Kane said that it was a wonderful fight. "There was no question though about who was the winner. Moore certainly is a little marvel. On the other hand Wilde is about the greatest judge of distance in the world," Eddie said.

"Training conditions were very bad. We did not get in England until the first and the bouts started on the eleventh. That didn't leave a great deal of time to get in condition."

"Also, the quarters were very damp. Five of the boys got the flu. There was very little apparatus there. The training consisted in the main part of running and boxing between our selves."

LIEUT. BERRY HAS RETURNED

Pennsylvania All-Around Star Mustered Out of Service—To Retire From Athletics.

Lieut. Howard Berry, star all-around athlete of the University of Pennsylvania, has been mustered out of the military service, and returned to his home in Philadelphia. "The all-around star" has been stationed with an artillery regiment at Camp Hancock, Ga.

Lieutenant Berry it is said, will re-enter Pennsylvania, probably during the semester commencing with the new year. However, it is regarded as extremely doubtful if he will ever again be seen competing under the university's colors. It is said that Lieut. Berry is ineligible to compete on the Red and Blue track team.

Lieutenant Berry has attracted nationwide attention as an athlete since entering the University of Pennsylvania. The all-around star entered Penn from Muhlenberg after competing a year of basketball and football at connection at the latter institution. When he had rounded out his year's residence at Penn he became eligible for all branches of sports. Subsequently he distinguished himself for a period of two years on the football and basketball teams and the track and field team. On the latter team he twice won the pentathlon championships.

STAR BACK WITH PENN STATE

"Jude" Harlan Resumes His Studies—He Was Expected to Go to Georgia Tech.

"Jude" Harlan, the smashing tenor halfback of the famous Naval Reserve, is back at Penn State university where he will resume his studies. It was said that Harlan, who came from Georgia Tech, would return to his former school, but he has changed his mind and will go to the Pennsylvania institution.

Penn state will have a wonderful addition to the football field in Harlan.

RIXEY HEARD FROM

Lieut. Eppa Rixey of the chemical division of the American expeditionary forces is another ball tosser who escaped unhurt, although having seen the heaviest kind of fighting in France. From Bar-sur-Aube Lieut. Rixey writes that he is well and anxious to return to America, although he has no idea when he will be back. Before sailing for France the Phil's big southpaw blated that he might not play ball again but friends now in this country say they are sure he'll change his mind upon his return home.

AMATEUR SPORT BIG AFTER-WAR PROBLEM

Professionals Will Continue to Dominate Baseball Game.

Resumption of Golf and Tennis Will Place These Sports on Footing Never Before Realized—Matches Will Be Revived

After the war problems confronting the sport world include questions of what is going to happen in the ranks of the amateurs?

Amateur sports always have been divided into two classes—amateurs which competed with professionals and amateurs which had the field practically to themselves.

In the latter class may be grouped football, basketball, track and field games and other such sports. Baseball and boxing are the two most prominent of the professional sports competing with amateurs and which give a wide margin to the professionals. H. C. Hamilton in a New York dispatch to Chicago Evening Post.

Baseball probably will continue the uneven tenor of its long and troubled existence. The professionals will continue to dominate the game. Amateur baseball is so decidedly lacking in attractiveness to the persons who have become accustomed to seeing high class professionals perform that it has no hold on the nation.

Occasionally there are games among the amateurs which produce such phenomena as that which attended a game in Cleveland where 50,000 persons were present at a game for the amateur championship. But they are rare—extremely so.

The same facts hold good for boxing. Therefore the conclusion may be drawn that, despite the popularity of sports in army and navy the American public will continue to patronize the professionals instead of staging its own entertainment.

This will not hold good in golf and tennis, which as amateur sports have yet to be touched by the hand of the professionals to a great extent. Golf enjoys its professional tournaments which are greatly similar to its amateur tournaments. The resumption of golf probably will place that sport on a footing never before realized while the advance of tennis since war broke out has been a remarkable addition to the history of that game. That the Davis cup matches and other brilliant fixtures of its game will be revived early is a foregone conclusion.

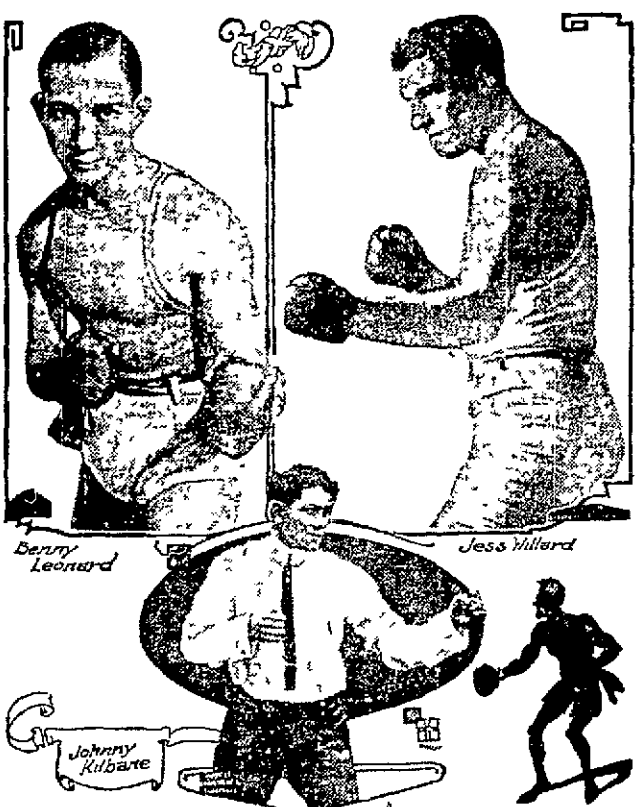

Wilbert Robinson has signed a couple of juvenile leaders from Scranton. Eugene Jennings must have overlooked them.

Eddie Plank isn't saying anything about reporting to the Yanks in the spring. The veteran doesn't have to worry about playing baseball.

Dell Pratt may follow Johnny La van into retirement. He has said he must look out for his future, intimating that it doesn't lie in baseball.

Dick Radolich, a star with the Braves in the days when they called George Stallings "the miracle man," is doing his best to get away from the Boston club.

WILL THESE BOXERS BE CHAMPS IN 1920?

Now that the war is ended it is reasonable to believe that boxing will have a boom and that bouts will be staged involving the titles of the champions in the different divisions.

Benny Leonard lightweight champion, is now reliably reported to have become a welterweight since he turned army instructor. When he met Ted Lewis the welter title holder, a short time ago there was little difference in their weights.

Jess Willard and Johnny Kilbane are two title holders of prominence who cannot be enticed into a championship fight. Kilbane has not defended his title for over two years. He has given as an excuse his duties as an army instructor. This no longer holds good. It will be interesting to see what his new reason will be.

As for the war Willard nobody is able to drag him into a ring. He has risked his title but once since he won it April 6, 1915.

SERVES IN NAVY AND ARMY COACH QUILTS NORTHWESTERN

Outfielder Sam Rice of Washington, Only Player to See Service in Both Branches

Sam Rice, Washington's outfielder is probably the only big leaguer who has served in two branches of the United States Service. He served a term in the navy several years ago.

Sam Rice

Joining the Petersburg (Va.) League club when discharged. That was six years ago. He remained a pitcher until 1915, when Clark Griffiths gave him a trial in the outfield.

Last spring he enlisted in the coast artillery and was sent overseas several months ago.

Fred Murphy Tenders His Resignation—Mining Interests Require His Attention

Fred Murphy, football coach at Northwestern university for the last five years, has tendered his resignation. In a letter received at the in-situation Coach Murphy explained that his growing mining interests in Colorado required full time attention.

Tohya Kurumae, the Japanese lawn tennis player, is the only exponent of the game among the ten ranking players of two seasons ago who was not enrolled in some branch of the government war service.

EXTENSIVE ATHLETIC PLANS FOR SOLDIERS

Competition in All Branches of Sports Is Sanctioned.

Efforts Will Have Active Co-operation of the Various Welfare Organizations With Authority From General Pershing.

An extensive organized effort will be made to develop athletics in the American expeditionary force during the next few months. Through the organized direction of entertainments also it will be aimed to bring out and develop the entertaining talent the army affords.

The efforts in both these directions will have the active co-operation of the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army and the other welfare organizations with authority from General Pershing.

Competitive sports as well as purely athletic exercises will be arranged in each division and corps. Official championships will be contested under rules to be adopted later in these sports. Track and field events, baseball, football, basketball, tennis, boxing and wrestling.

Beginning with each company as the smallest unit there will be elimination contests in the organization all the way up to army corps. The company winners will compete in battalion events and battalion winners in regimental contests. When the winners in each army corps are decided there will be final contests for the athletic championships of the American expeditionary force, in which only the winners of divisional championships will be eligible.

All the team events will be conducted so as to make selections of one athletic team from each of the First, Second and Third armies and two teams from the service of supply including the district of Paris. Football teams will be organized to represent army troops, corps troops, division and intermediate sections of the service of supply in the Paris district and the service of supply in the advanced sections.

The boxing contests will embrace six classes—featherweight, lightweight, welterweight, middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight. The elimination bouts will consist of three rounds each of three minutes with a minute rest between rounds. The winners in the division corps of the army and service of supply tournaments of five rounds each boxing and wrestling tournaments must be concluded by March 31.

Individual prizes will be awarded members of teams winning the first place in the divisional contests and to the members of the two teams competing in the finals of the American expeditionary force championships, the prizes to be emblematic of service in the American expeditionary force.

LITTLE PICKUPS OF SPORT

University of Pittsburgh has booked nine football games for this year.

University of Princeton will have a varsity swimming team this winter.

Horse racing is permitted in New York from April 15 to November 15.

A company has been formed to boost sports by means of moving pictures.

Bill Fischer, former National League catcher, is now a shoe drummer, and a successful one, too.

The Giants and Athletics will have plenty of youngsters until the player limit rule goes into effect.

Val Fachnich has written Manager Griffith that he expects to be mustered out of the navy soon.

NEW SONGS BY NORA BAYES

Noted Star in Headliner in Columbia Records for March

You can imagine how Nora Bayes would sing a song entitled "My Boy Loves Over the Ocean (Just the way he lied to me)." There is a laugh in the title—and a couple of laughs in every line thereafter. Miss Bayes, who has delighted millions of American vaudeville enthusiasts ever since the day when she stepped out and sang "Kelt," sings this Irish song about an Irish hero in a manner calculated to make a sea dog laugh. On the back of a splendid song by Miss Bayes entitled "Good Bye France."

Among the other new records which Columbia dealers are playing for phonograph fans is a double disc by Campbell & Burr and Samuel Ash. The titles of these two songs are already popular from coast to coast and owners of talking machines will rejoice to add them to their collection. They are "Kisses" and "I Found the End of the Rainbow." You've heard of the famous French Army Band, of course. This organization of soldier musicians, most of whom have been decorated in the war, is now touring America but before they left New York recently, Columbia was fortunate enough to secure their original recording of a number of selections of French music. Among these is the famous Puffs French song, "Quand Madeleine." It is impossible to do justice to the Gallic melody and spirit of the song. You must hear it to appreciate it. On the back of this is another French army song, "Le Trompeur."

Weekly Statistics of Production to be Discontinued by Survey.

C. E. Leshner, geologist in charge of coal and coke statistics United States Geological Survey, announces that with the bulletin of by-product coke production for the week ending February 1, the weekly reports of oven operations will be discontinued.

"The continuation of this information on a weekly basis says Mr. Leshner, undertaken in the fall of 1917 at the joint request of several government agencies active in the conduct of the war, is considered no longer necessary. Resumption on a less frequent interval is being considered. The decision will rest upon the willingness of the operators to report and the demand from the public for these data."

CHAPTER IV.

The Desert Hotel.

He left the dusty car with relief when the twin towns were called. He had expected to see a Mexican town, or at least a Mexican influence, as the towns hugged the border, but it was as vividly American as was Imperial or Brawley. There was the yellow-painted station of the Overland Pacific lines, the water tank the eager American crowd. Railroad sheds announced the terminal of the road. Backed toward the station was the inevitable hotel for the country town, a painted sign hanging over its side advertising the Desert hotel. Before he reached the step the vehicle was crowded.

"Wait, gentlemen, I'm coming back for a second load," called the darky who was holding the reins.

"If you wait for the second trip you won't get a room," suggested a friendly voice from the seat above.

Rickard threw his bag to the grinning negro and swung onto the crowded steps.

Leaving the railroad sheds he observed a building which he assumed was the hotel. It looked promising, attractive with its wide enclosing veranda and the patch of green which blighted the dignity of a lawn. But the darky whipped up his stolid horses. Rickard's eyes followed the patch of green.

The friendly voice from above told him that that was the office of the Desert Reclamation company. His next survey was more personal. He saw himself entering the play as the representative of a company that was ostracized if not indeed actively hated by the valley folk. It annoyed him that his entrance was so quiet as to be surprising. It would have been quicker had Marshall had his way. But he himself had stipulated that Hardin should be told of his coming. He had seen the telegram before it left the Tucson office. He might be assuming an unfamiliar role in this complicated drama of river and desert, but it was not to be as an eavesdropper.

The heavy bus was moving slowly through the dust of the street. Rickard was given ample time to note the limitations of the new town. They passed two brick stores of general merchandise, lemons and wooden goods, stockings and crackers displaying fraternally in their windows. A board sign swinging from the overhanging porch of the most pretentious building announced the post office. From a small adobe hung a brass plate advising the stranger of the Bank of Calexico. The "dobe pressed close to another two-story structure of the desert type. The upper floor, supported by posts, extended over the sidewalk. Netted wire screened away the desert mosquito and gave the overhanging gallery the grotesque appearance of a huge fencing mast. From the street could be seen rows of beds as in hospital wards. Calexico, it was seen, slept out of doors.

"Desert hotel," bawled the darky, rearing in his placid team.

"Yes, sah, I'll look out for your bag. Got your room? The hotel's mighty sure to be full. Not many women yet down this a-way. . . . All the men mostly live right here at the hotel."

A crowd made a dive from a swirl of dust into the hotel. The long line he anticipated at the desk was not there. He stopped to take in a valley innovation. One end of the long counter had been converted into a soda-water bar. The high swivel stools in front of the white marbled stand, with its towering silver fixtures, were crowded with dapper occupants of the bus. A white-coated youth was pouring colored sirups into tall glasses; there was a clinking of ice; a sizzling of siphons.

"That's a new one on me," grinned Rickard, turning toward the desk where a complacent proprietor stood waiting to announce that there was but one room left.

"With bath?"

"Bath right across the hall. Only room left in the house. The proprietor awarded him the valley stare. "Going to be here long?" He passed the last key on the rack to the darky staggering under a motley of bags and suitcases. Rickard recognized him, and followed.

"I may get you another room tomorrow," called the proprietor after him as he climbed the dusty stairs.

The signals of a new town were waving in the dining room. The majority of the citizens displayed their shirt sleeves and unbuttoned suspenders. One large table was surrounded by men in khaki; the desert soldiers, elaborately pompous, were pushing through the swing-doors, carrying heavy trays. Coquetry appeared to be their occupation, rather than meal-serving, the diners accepting both varieties of attention with appreciation. The supremacy of those superior maidens was conceded only by two other women who sat at a table near the door. Rickard did not see them at first. The room was as masculine as a restaurant in a new mining town.

Rickard left his indoor view to look through the French windows opening on a side street. He noticed a slender but regular procession. All the men passing fell in the same direction.

"Cocktail route," explained one of his neighbors, his mouth full of boiled beet.

"Oyster cocktail" smiled the newcomer.

"The real thing! Calexico's dry, like the whole valley, that is, the country. See that ditch? That is Mexico, on the other side. Those sheds you can see are in Mexicali, Calexico's twin sister. That painted adobe is the custom house. Mexicali's not dry, even in summer! You can bet your life on that. You can get all the bad whiskey and stale beer you've the money to buy. We work in Calexico, and drink in Mexicali. The temperance pledge is kept better in this town than any other town in the valley. But you can see this procession every night.

The Amazon with a handkerchief apron brought Rickard his soup. He was raising his first spoonful to his mouth when he saw the face, carefully averted, of the girl he had met at the Marshall's table, Innes Hardin. His eyes jumped to her companions, the man a stranger, and then, Gerty Holmes. At least, Mrs. Hardin! Somehow, it surprised him to find her pretty. She had achieved a variety of distinction, preserving, moreover, the clear-cut babyish chin which had made his early appeal to him. There was the same sunny hair, its ringlets a bit artificial to his more sophisticated eyes, the same well-turned nose. He had been wondering about this meeting; he found that he had been expecting some sort of shock—who said that the love of today is the jest of tomorrow? The discovery that Gerty was not a just brought the surprised gratification which we award a letter or composition written in our youth. Here we are, clerks as that, so complete at eighteen or twenty-one? Could we, now, with all our experience, do any better, or indeed as well? That particular sentence with wings! Could we make it fly today as it soared yesterday? Rickard was finding that Gerty's more mature charms did not accelerate his heart-beats, but they were certainly flattering to his early judgment. And he had expected her to be a shock!

He was staring into his plate of chilled soup and California! For he had loved her, or at least he had loved her, her pretty childish way of lifting it. She was prettier than he had pictured her. Queer that a man like Rickard could draw such women for sister and wife—the blood the was the most amazing. For when women come to marry, they make often a queer choice. It occurred to him that that might have been Hardin—he had not wanted to stare at her.

That was not Hardin's face. It held strength and power. The outline was sharp and distinct, showing the strong lines, the determined mouth of the pioneer. There was something else, something which stood for distinction—no, it couldn't be Hardin.

And then, because an outburst lip changed the entire look of the man, Rickard asked his table companions, who was the man with the two ladies, near the door.

"That, sah," his neighbor from Alabama became immediately categorical. "That is a big man, sah. If the Imperial valley ever becomes a reality, a fixtural, it will be because of that one man, sah. Reclamation is like a seed thrown on a rock. Will it sink? Will it take root? Will it grow? That is what we all want to know."

Rickard thought that he had wanted to know something quite different, and reminded the gentleman from Alabama that he had not told him the name.

"The father of this desert, Thomas Hardin, sah."

Rickard tried to resist, without attracting their attention, the group of his impressions of the man whose personality had been so obnoxious to him in the old Lawrence days. The Hardin he had known had also large features, but of the flaccid irritating order. He summoned a picture of Hardin as he had shuffled into his own classroom, or up to the long table where Gerty had always queued it among her mother's boarders. He could see the rough unpolished boots that had always offended him as a betrayal of the man's inner coarseness; the badly fitting coat, the long awkward arms, and the satisfied, loud-speaking mouth. These features were more definite. Could time bring these changes? Had he changed, like that? Had they seen him? Would Gerty, would Hardin remember him? Wasn't it his place to make himself known; wave the flag of old friendship as an awkward question?

He found himself standing in front of their table, encountering first, the eyes of Hardin's sister. There was no surprise, no welcome there for him. He felt once the hostility of the camp. His face was unconsciously warm. Then the childish profile turned on him. A look of bewilderment, flushing into greeting—the years had been kind to Gerty Holmes!

"Do you remember me, Rickard?" If Hardin recognized a difficult situation, he did not betray it. It was a man Rickard did not know who shook him warmly by the hand, and said that indeed he had not forgotten his wife, "I've been expecting you. My wife, Mr. Rickard, and my sister."

"Why, what are you thinking of, Tom? To introduce Mr. Rickard! I introduced you to each other, years ago!" Gerty's cheeks were red. Her bright eyes were darting from one to the other. "You knew he was coming, and did not tell me!"

"You were at the Improvement club when the telegram came," put in Innes Hardin, without looking at Rickard. No trace of the Tucson cordiality in that proud little face! No acknowledgment that they had met at the Marshall's! "Oh, you telegraphed to us?" The blond arch smile had not aged. "That was friendly and nice."

Rickard had not been self-conscious for many a year. He did not know what to say. He turned from her upturned face to the others. Innes Hardin was starting out of the window, over the heads of several crowded tables; Hardin was gazing at his plate. Rickard decided that he would get out of this before Gerty discovered that it was neither "friendly nor nice."

"If I had known that you were here, I would have insisted on your dining with us, in our tent. For it's terrible, here, isn't it?" She flashed at him the look he remembered as rivaling, the childish coquetry appeal. "We dine at home, till it becomes tiresome, and then we come foraging for variety. But you must come to us, say Thursday. Is that right for you? We should love it."

Still those two averted faces. Rickard said Thursday, as he was bidden, and got back to his table, wondering why in thunder he had let Marshall persuade him to take this job.

Hardin waited a scant minute to protest: "What possessed you to ask him to dinner?"

"Why shouldn't I? He is an old friend." Gerty caught a glance of appeal, from sister to brother. "Jealous?" she pouted charmingly at her lord.

"Jealous, no!" bluffed Hardin.

He thought then that she knew, that Innes had told her. The Lawrence episode held no sting to him. Once, it had enmeshed him, but he had carried off the boarding-house belle, whose even that bookman had found desirable—bookman! A superior dupe! He had always had those grand airs. As if it were not more to a man's credit to struggle for his education, even if he were older than his class, or his teacher, than to accept it off silver plates, handed by lackeys? Rickard had always acted as if it had been something to be ashamed of. It made him sick.

"Why, I did it this time. It's a fool choice!"

Again, that look of pleading from Innes. Gerty had a shiver of intuition. "Fool choice?" Her voice was consciously calm.

Hardin shook off Innes' eyes. Better be done with it! "He's the new general manager."

"He's the general manager?"

"To take orders from Tom?" Gerty's sister was of the stunned variety. The Hardins watched her crumbling bread on the tablecloth, thinking, fearfully, that she was going to cry.

"Didn't I tell you?" Her voice, repressed, carried the threat of tears. "Didn't I tell you how it would be? Didn't I say that you'd be sorry if you called the railroad in?"

"What was I to do over this again?" asked her husband.

"Why didn't you tell me? Why did you let me make a goose of myself?" She was remembering that there had been no protest, no surprise from Innes. She knew! A family secret! She shrugged. "I'm glad, on the whole, that you planned it as a surprise. For I carried it off as if it had not been insulted, disgraced."

"Gerty" expostulated Hardin. "Come at it! Implore Innes."

"And we are in for a nice friendly dinner!"

"Are you quite finished?" Hardin got up.

As the three passed out of the dining room, Rickard caught their several expressions. Hardin's stiff, indifferent; Gerty's brilliant but hard, as she flashed a finished, brave little smile in his direction. The sister's bow was distinctly baneful.

In the hall, Gerty's laugh rippled out. It was the laugh Rickard remembered, the light, frivolous cadence which recalled the flamboyant pattern of the Holmes' parlor carpet, the long, glowing dining table where Gerty had refused. It told him that she was indifferent to his coming, as she meant it should. And it turned him back to a dark corner in the corner-niche, draped porch where he had spent so many evenings with her, where once he had held her hand, where he told her that he loved her. For he had loved her, or at least he thought he had! And had run away from her expectant eyes. A end, was he, because he had brought that waiting look into her eyes, and had run from it?

Should a man ask a woman to give her life into his keeping until he is quite sure that he wants it? He was revamping his worn defense. Should he live up to a minute of surrender, of tenderness, if the next instant brings sanity, and disillusionment? He could bury now forever self-reproach. He could laugh at his own vanity. Gerty Hardin, it was easy to see, had forgotten what he had whispered to Gerty Holmes. They met as sober old friends. That ghost was laid.

CHAPTER V.

A Game of Checkers.

The uneasy mood of the desert, the wind-blown sand, drove people indoors the next morning. Rickard was served a substantial, indifferently cooked breakfast in the dining room of the Desert hotel, whose limitations were as conspicuous to the newcomer as they were nonexistent to the other men. They were finding it a soft con-

"TIZ" PUTS JOY IN SORE, ACHING FEET

"My, How 'Tiz' Gladdens Tired, Swollen, Aching Feet—It's Glorious!"

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet, no more burning feet, no more swollen, aching, tender, sweaty feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "Tiz." "Tiz" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "Tiz" cures your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear enamel or shoes. Just once try "Tiz." Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it—Adv.

trans to sand-blown tests, to life in the open.

Later he wandered through the group of stalling idlers in the office past the popular soda stand and the few chair-lifters on the sidewalk, going on, as if without purpose, to the railroad sheds, and then on, down to the office of the Desert Reclamation company. He discovered it to be the one engaging spot in the hastily thrown-together town. There were clerks, rose and white blooming in the patch of purple blooming alfalfa that stood for a lawn. Morning glories clambered over the supports of the veranda, and on over the roof. Rickard's deductions led him to the Hardins.

What school of experience had so changed the awkward country fellow? He had resented his rivalry, not that he was a rival, but that he was a boor. His kisses still warm on her lips, and she had turned to welcome, to coquet with Tom Hardin! The woman who was to be his wife must be steeper than that! It had cooled his fever, for him the aspect who could shake and bend her pretty thighs to each rough breeze that blew!

Men tossed into a desert, fighting to keep a foothold, do not guard their offices with morning glories! Was it the gracious quiet influence of a wife, a Gerty Hardin? The festive building he was approaching was as unexpected—as Captain Brandon! Rickard walked on, smiling.

He was fairly blown into the outer room, the door banging behind him. Every one looked up at the noisy interruption. There were several men in the long room. Among them two alert, clean-faced youths, college graduates, or students out on furlough, the kind of stud in his class at Lawrence. Three of the seasoned, road-coached type were leaning their chairs against the cool tiled walls. One was puffing at a cigar. The other, a big, shy giant, was drawing clouds of comfort from a pipe. There was a telegraph operator at work in one end of the room, her instrument rapidly clicking. In an opposite corner was a telephone exchange. A girl with a metal band around her forehead was punching connections between the valley towns. Rickard lost the feeling of having gone into a remote and isolated place. The twin towns were on his map.

One of the older men returned his nod. The young men returned their nod. The young man returned their nod. The young man returned their nod. The young man returned their nod.

"Anything I can do for you? Do you want to see anyone in particular?"

"No," it was admitted. "No one in particular. I was just looking round."

"It's the show place of Calexico. I'll take you around. It is the only place in town that is comfortable when it's hot."

"I'll Take You Around."

hot, or when the wind blows, and that's the program all summer. Take my place, Pete."

Pete, the young giant, with the face of his infancy enlarged rather than matured, slipped into the vacant chair. He had been the first to discover the stranger, but he had evaded the responsibility. The game immediately absorbed him.

"It's nice here," repeated the young fellow, leading the way. They were followed by a few idle glances.

Rickard looked with approval at the tin film figure which was assuming the courtesy of the towns. The fine handsome face was almost too girlish, the muscles of the mouth too sensitive yet for manly beauty, but he liked the type. Lithe as a young desert-treasured Indian, his manner and carriage told of a careful home and rigid school discipline.

Every Name is Wanted For the Official State Records.

Read the above questions carefully and answer them fully so that honor may be given where honor is due—to the State of Pennsylvania and its gallant defenders. The War History Commission, of the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense, is compiling an official record for historical purposes, of the men who, during the great war, entered the military or naval service of the United States or of the Allies. Names of men who voluntarily enlisted are, in particular, apt to be missing from the Honor Roll unless furnished by their families or friends. But all names, whether those of men who enlisted or who entered the service by draft, are wanted.

Fill out a War Service Record for your soldier or sailor boy and mail it without delay.

LOOK OUT FOR THAT TIGHT COLD

Not only does it annoy you and lower your vitality, but pneumonia is always a possibility. On your way to or from work, stop in at your drugist's and get a 25c jar of KREW-PINA. One application on retiring will break it, and a second usually kills it. KREW-PINA is also splendid for bronchitis, tonsillitis, sore throat, burns, bruises and cuts; it is foe to all inflammation and should be on hand in every home. Especially good for croup. It relieves quickly when doctors are delayed in the dead of night or early in the morning. You can secure it at all drugists.

THE TIGER CHS

VOL. 2, NO. 3.

FEB. 15, 1913.

SENIOR NOTES.

(By Chas. Sheets.)

There was a great increase in the columns of the Tiger last week over the first issue. This was due greatly to the increased interest caused by the classes making so good a showing in the first issue. The Seniors made a very good showing in the first issue but since then it seems as though the interest was decreasing. We don't want anything like that to happen, because this year will be the last year that the most of us may help to make the Tiger a success and it is a Senior's duty to see this year this paper is successful and then next year the present Juniors will be responsible for it.

Miss Baker's whistling assembly doesn't have a thing on Miss Delin's assembly. After the introduction of a new song in chapel, her assembly is used for a practice room by a few of the teachers and basses. Sweet music issues from there at times and prospects for a male quartet are good.

"Joe" McConnell is a good sport most times but here is once when he backed out. In trigonometry Miss Brown said, "Well, Joe, I'll bet you don't have your problems again today." "Oh, you want a sure bet, don't you," came the reply.

After the Johnstown game Tuesday, Mr. Smith came up to "Jim" Laughery and asked him why he didn't give the Johnstown fellows the money with which to go home on the train. "Jim" said, "Oh, I thought they had to go home on defeat (the feet)."

Warren Stauffer has already elected his pursuit through life. He is planning to become a chemist. A good chemist is a very thing and there is a decidedly large demand for them. The reason there are not many is that it takes a man with a perfect brain to become a chemist.

Mr. Allison told the basketball team to be at Hooper's drug store the other night after the meeting and he would "set 'em up." After the meeting the team lost no time in getting there but to their surprise Mr. Allison wasn't in sight. The players didn't lose anything for every one got his "set up" and left the bill there for Mr. Allison to pay.

With the aid of "Crusie" Robinson's mouth and his "kettle lid orchestra" there has been a decided increase in the rooting at the recent basketball games. It's a good thing to get a little of that "confined noise" out of the students once in a while.

"Jim" Laughery and Mr. Haviland are having wrestling matches in the basement. "Jim" is instructing Mr. Haviland. In a recent practice Mr. Haviland asked, "Jim, after I get a half-Nelson on you then must I get the toe-hold?" "Jim" replied, "No you don't do that in amateur wrestling."

We wonder what "Robby" Stauffer would do if he should happen to forget his wrist watch. We believe he couldn't work a bit all day.

The first time any of the students have had any pleasure out of a broken drinking fountain was the other day when Mr. Stauffer rushed from the hall to the fountain, bent his back with a "crack," stepped on the "thriller" and found it water.

That of Seniors' old remind us that they who strive to do their best in everything, leave behind them note books that will help the rest.

Is it possible to imagine—that Mary Laws is the thinnest girl in school? That Irene Clifford is becoming thin?

THE SOPHOMORES.

(By Esther Muir.)

Mid-year exams almost here. Now from the throats of 500 students comes the cry, "Exempt us, please!"

If Frank Sellers says, "Oh, my laws!" (when in trouble) we all know what he means.

Miss Lyon:—"What can you tell me of the population of Connellsville?" Melvin Hoover:—"It's very dense."

There will be an election of officers for the literary society at the next meeting. We want to see every one out.

Miss Powers in biology class:—"What is the highest form of animal life?" Esther Muir:—"The giraffe."

We welcome back, with pleasure, Frances Strawn who left us shortly after the beginning of the term.

A group of girls were talking about Caesar. Some said it was hard, some easy. Amelia Egan said very sorrowfully, "When I am through with Caesar I intend to let the men alone." (Meaning Cicero and Virgil.)

Our teachers, who have found us so outused over our studies, have placed a large dictionary in the study hall for our own private use.

EDITORIAL.

We oftentimes wonder whether the people of Connellsville ever give a second thought to the activities of high school. It is true that a certain number have turned out to our inter-scholastic events, held in the high school, and have become interested and regular patrons. But how many, we wonder, realize the education the school is giving each year to the young men and women of our city? The students of the high school are grateful to the townspeople for giving them the present new building and the chance to better their education. We wonder, however, whether the people are aware of the fact that each year the high school turns out close to a hundred students who are fit at once to enter any college or university and take their places among the more educated people of this country.

Not a few of the business men and merchants have been benefited by the high school, for the commercial students are immediately established in local offices and concerns where they are proving that they are efficient and well worthy of all the money spent for their education.

Many of the citizens know the high school is here and that it occupies a fine new building but in quite a few minds that is as far as the thought goes. From this point on the high school is unrecognized.

Fifteen years ago Connellsville did not have such a school as we now have. It was consequently as many students did not return from the colleges and universities, educated men and women, to take up and promote the welfare of our city. From those days until the present time there has been a slow educational movement taking place and the Connellsville high school is now recognized as one of the most modern and up to date in the state.

We hope our benefactors, who were so liberal as to give us all our present advantages and privileges, will not forget that we are still progressing and intend to come back some day to our city and prove that we are worthy of all the time, energy and financial help given us.

Everyone knows "Buddy," our new basketball star, by this time, for after seeing his fine write-up in the Tiger last Saturday he couldn't resist coming out on the floor between the halves of the C. H. S.-Bradford game and demonstrating his superiority over his dad in shooting fouls. When the whistle blew for the game he then tottered back to his usual seat on Miss Brown's lap.

Charles Sheets in the Senior column speaks of "Crusie" Robinson's "kettle lids" and mouth as an orchestra. "You're mist-ten 'Crusie." With such a combination as that there can be no orchestra. It's just a plain "jar" band.

Nothing puts spirit into a basketball game like the cheering. Last night was one of the best yet. Keep up the good work.

The high school announces "Poco-hontas," a two part comic opera, to be given solely by the students of C. H. S. The play was announced by Principal Smith to the students in chapel Wednesday morning. "Poco-hontas" is a brand new opera with elaborate costumes, settings and catchy music that you will hum and whistle long after the show is over. The play will have a large cast, consisting of high school students only. The choosing of the cast and the rehearsals have already been started and the play promises to be one of the best Connellsville has seen for a long time. Students who wish to apply for places in the cast may see Mr. Haviland who is in charge. Mr. Haviland will be assisted by Miss Margaret Baker who will have charge of the dramatic work and by Miss Iva Waterbury, who will train the dancers.

The other day the editor was handed the following contribution for the Tiger. It was written by Sarah Esther West a graduate of last year's class. Could anything better portray the loyalty the class of '12 have for C. H. S.?

Can it be you haven't missed us in the Tiger's issue here? Can it be you buried 'Eighteen?

With the number of her year? The members have been scattered Over states both far and wide, Still we'd like to kind of show you That we're on the same old side. We are sorry that we've left you But we send our greetings back; And our cheers are ever ringing For the Orange and the Black.

OF INTEREST TO FRESHMEN. We are glad to say that a large number of Freshmen were present at the last basketball game which was played with Dunbar township.

(By Elizabeth Kenney.) Keep it up, Freshmen! More items were handed in this week. Remember this is your school paper and the editor can't do it all. Last year we took no part in the Tiger, why? Because the other classes thought we

AMONG THE JUNIORS.

(By Earl Lucius.)

At all our athletic games we hear the yell, "Your pop, your pop; you've got it, now keep it!" Have we got it? Yes, and we are going to keep it as far as the basketball teams are concerned. Teams? Oh, yes, it is plural. For we have a girls' team, which played Dunbar township last Friday night and won by a score of 9-6. Now boys, show your loyalty to the girls of C. H. S. as they have been showing theirs to you. They are human. Come to all the games. Your encouragement will mean as much to them as their own to you.

Some of our out-of-town students have either tried to start new styles or else have to get up so early that they can't see to put on socks to match. One of them came to school the other day wearing one blue and one black sock.

"No one knows anything but me and thee and sometimes I think thee knows nothing"—Mr. Stauffer.

Miss Hanna's remedy for the disease known as "back cutting" is a tablet, which will be placed on her desk to be used when you feel an attack of this contagious disease coming on.

Notice to all first class wrestlers: Mr. Haviland, who has been wrestling for about a month, would like to take on a bout with a first class wrestler.

Eddie Wall: "Poul." Cute little Freshie: "Where's the feathers?" Bright Senior: "Why, you silly boy, this is a picked team."

It was stated in The Courier the other night that Paul Collins had been granted a marriage license. It caused Junior girls much concern but Paul was back at school the next day. He told us it was someone else. Paul we're glad we aren't going to lose you yet.

Tom Newmeyer has been elected secretary of the civics class. Who couldn't be elected with the political pull and influence of "But" Bufano and Paul McDonald?

"Experience is the best teacher," some person said. But I know some better teachers in the Junior class and they aren't as hard on you as experience. When we go back to the first debates given in the literary societies, Miss Baker's Junior English classes, we must admit that "Old Man Experience" has taught us something.

Some of us have become real "batters," "orators" and "essayers." "Essayers" speak loud enough and use enough words, but their subjects are not as well understood. What "batter" doesn't understand the subject? "Crusies" is one of the methods by which a tree gets its food. That, for example, is one of the most used subjects. Come "Essayers," talk about something we understand.

Hark Tiger readers! Have you heard any of the Junior prophecies? You'd never suspect the innocent people that are going to be vamps and villains. And who would ever think of Fred Danner carrying water for elephants?

And girls, have you noticed how few of you are going to be married? It is remarkable out of all the Junior girls the five or six that are ever going to say, "I will." So to end it all, why not adopt as a symbol a pure and a cat? For the prophecies it would be appropriate, would it not?—Katherine Herd.

couldn't. Now come on. Let's show them what we can do! If anything happens in your section, make a note of it and hand it to either Miss Detchon or the reporter.

Miss Delin:—"What does frango mean?" Erick:—"To break."

Miss Delin:—"Do you know any words derived from it in English?" Erick:—"Fraction."

Miss Delin:—"Don't you know any more? What do they mark on boxes that are breakable?" Erick:—"Handle with care."

Miss Delin:—"What is a synonym of die?" Brown Higbee:—"Dead."

There seems to be a fad among the Juniors writing love letters and leaving them in their desks. Of course the Freshmen find them.

Katherine Knox is refraining from eating between meals and from chewing-gum, candy, sodas, sundaes and commercially manufactured beverages for at least one month in order that she may earn a Camp Fire honor. Wilson McClaren was overheard saying that he thought it was a fine idea because he can ask her to have a sundae every day and it won't cost him a cent.

FIRST AND SECOND YEAR. (By Richard K. Dixon.)

Last Saturday night the preliminary basketball game was between the first year girls and the Sixth grade girls of the West Side. As luck would have it the Sixth grade girls won. But cheer up, girls! They've been practicing every day, while you had so many hard lessons (?) that you could only practice a few times. You'll show them next time, won't you?

What would school be without: Mr. Haviland and his voice? Miss Clarke and her cheery smile? Miss Adams and her arguments? Miss Trump and her examinations? Miss Francis and her definitions? Miss Golden and her note-book work? Miss Waterbury and her girls' basketball? The "Tiger" and its school gossip?

Norris Feather's arithmetic answer, "Then three numbers is too big." (They are for such a little boy.)

Miss Ogilvie—"We'll do it orally." Miss Davidson—"All work must be finished or you get a zero." Miss Berg—"Didn't you look up any of these words?"

Mr. Stone—"Pay attention, boys." Miss Adams—"Give a short sketch of the author's life." Miss Brickman—"Draw two vertical lines."

Miss Donnelly—"Now girls, you are entirely too noisy." Miss Waterbury:—"Watch me girls. Then you can do it."

Notice—The Ogilvie stationery store, Room 11, high school building, is now open for business. Tablets and pencils are sold; also very good erasers can be bought for five cents. Your patronage will be appreciated. Miss L. Ogilvie, proprietress, Room 11, High School building.

Wanted—A teacher to help Miss Clarke teach Norris Feather English. It seems rather difficult. Apply to "S. C." Room 8, High School building.

Again Dan Cupid has visited Miss Gilmore's assembly. He seems to like it pretty well. Last year two girls were married, and now, this year, Ruth Furlong, a member of Section B, second year, has been married. The young bride, who is 16 years old, eloped to Cumberland with Oliver Colbert of Dickerson Run. At present they will live at the bridegroom's home.
